The dark side of the light.

It's the quintessence of the concept of comfort signed by the designer Makio Hasuike. It's the Hydra system, designed for the urban centers which can add an unusual touch, dreamlike, almost lunar thanks to its spherical shape. The standard source of his light fitting is a LED technology with high-reflection mixing chamber and a phosphorus glass that appears white when turned on, for best aesthetic result. Hydra also has Wi-Fi data access system and it's designed for integration with Neri Smart City System. And the beauty gets smart.
